

Two Forks Treasure Map

Share your hunt with us! #enoriver
Instagram: @enoriver
Facebook: @enoriverassociation
Email: Social@enoriver.org

What are the bees and butterflies drinking from these flowers? Hint: You can find the answer on the sign.

This grassy meadow is made for cartwheels. Take a picture of your attempt and share it online! #EnoTreasureMap

Quartz looks like treasure to us! What do you think you could make with a rock like this?

Tell your hiking buddy a story about what made this tree fall over! Or what this root ball might turn into!

What is it called when two rivers come together and form one river? Hint: It is in the name of this natural area.

Geologists are scientists who study the Earth. What do you think the Earth is made of?

No, it wasn't pirate swords that made these marks! It was an animal. Can you guess what kind?

What kind of creatures make their homes in holes like this? No it's not Tinkerbell!

Make a fort like this one, take a picture, and share it online! #EnoTreasureMap

If you were a pirate, what kind of treasure would you bury here?